Dear sir

My name is Tamerlan and I want to apply for a weekend job. In the advertisement I saw that you need a local tour guide. And I really want to try out myself on this job.

The main reason I think that I can do this work is that I know everything about our city. From the young age I like to spend time on the streets of our city. Because of this I know every building (in) our city. Also I got a good knowledge about our city history, because I been working on school project about our city.

After all I would like to say that it is not a first time me doing the work. I was working as my dad's manager at mid school period. My work was to answer on email for him.

To finish my application I want to say that I am very excited to try work as guide.

Issues that students face in library, it's books itself. Students are not satisfied with experience of reading books. They seem too tedious. It considers as a huge issue, because if library doesn't provides interesting books, there likely will be more students. 3. The Louvre Museum, an iconic symbol of art and history, had always been a place I dreamed of visiting. When the opportunity finally arose, I knew I had to make the most of it. It wasn't just a visit to a museum but an immersive journey into the cultural and artistic evolution of humanity.

But it is not about my good experiences about the Louvre. I don't want to be a visitor with negative feelings to that museum, but as I approached the glass pyramid that serves as the museum's entrance, I noticed how that glass was dirty. This architectural masterpiece designed by I.M. Pei seemed like old dirty glass.

And I was disappointed by the workers at the museum, they acted as they didn't want to do their job. Also, I was shocked by the quantity of tourists, I know that the Louvre is the most famous museum in the world, but it feels like they stayed at ancient times.

I'm not saying that the Louvre museum was bad, the museum, originally built as a royal palace, retained much of its grandeur. High vaulted ceilings, intricately decorated archways and vast courtyards created an atmosphere of timeless elegance. I sometimes found myself pausing not just to admire the art but to take in the surroundings, which were works of art in their own right.

Despite the experiences that I had at the museum, my visit to the Louvre was a journey through time, cultures and the boundless creativity of humanity. I'll hope my next visit to that museum won't disappoint me.
